

STAR

Why do you look at me troubled, unsure
Afraid to say something I don't understand
You start out then back off, why won't you say more
And take hold of my outstretched hand

Why won't you tell me just what you're thinking
Is it so hard then for you to begin
There's only one way to stop yourself from sinking
And that's to open your heart, let me in

They say reach for your dreams
And they'll reach out where you are
They're the hopes that you cannot ignore
And it's no disgrace
To not reach the stars
But it is to have no stars to reach for
And I'm one that you can reach for...

I can't read the future but I know what feels right
And when I look into your eyes - I just know
Somethings are meant to be and it's pointless to fight
So hold me close, don't let me go
